DIVIAN DREAM

LUXURY BEDS

OUR PHILOSOPHY

PRECISELY HAND-CRAFTED
PREMIUM NATURAL MATERIALS
MODERN PRODUCTION TECHNOLOGIES
BUILDING ON TRADITIONS

THESE WOULD NOT WORK ONE WITHOUT
THE OTHER. TOGETHER THEY ARE YOUR TICKET TO DIVINE DREAMING.

TRADITION, NATURAL MATERIALS AND MODERN TECHNOLOGIES

The success of our beds is based on synergies between time-tested traditional principles, the finest natural materials and modern technological inventions. The principles we follow in our products are still the same as those of our predecessors used in production of beds decades ago. They are exclusively based on system of springs that brings significant benefits to life-span, durability and comfort of our products. Same as the professionals of the past, we also believe in positive influence of pure natural materials on our health and the quality of our sleep. However, to achieve true perfection, the use of modern technologies is essential. In our beds we use the pocket spring system from non-conductive materials and of variable thickness and winding styles in order to create multiple comfort zones in our mattresses. We also implement patented system of for attaching and connecting the springs together. The total springs count in our flagship products can reach close to 5,000 individual springs for a 180/200 cm bed size.

COMFORT WITHOUT COMPROMISE

After a busy day your body and our mind both deserve high-quality rest. Each ingredient of our recipe for a top-class bed has its own specific mission that works together as a unique symphony for relaxing sleep. Our commitment on premium natural materials goes hand-in-hand with precise hand-crafting and responsibility towards both our customers and our environment, as we believe that our honest and careful work will be appreciated by you, our customers, when you wake up revived after a night of divine dreaming.

PURE NATURAL MATERIALS ONLY

HORSEHAIR

Traditional material that in furniture production can be traced all the way back to the 9th century. This material is one of the core elements of high-quality mattresses and mattress toppers because it possesses several unique characteristics. The most important of them all is the ability to serve as moisture-management feature within the mattress. Human body can produce as much as 2 dcl or more of body moisture through perspiration during the night. Horsehair material can effectively dispel this moisture and prevent its condensation within the mattress, releasing it back to the air when the mattress is left to breathe in the morning. Other very important functions of horsehair are the weight distribution and possibility to adjust the desired firmness feel of each mattress.

CASHMERE (CASHMERE WOOL)

In Europe, the cashmere wool became popular at the beginning of 19th century despite its steep price which can reach over ten times the price of regular sheep wool. Thanks to its distinctive characteristics it became a synonym for luxury textiles. Cashmere wool has one of the finest fiber structures of all natural materials and at the same time it is extremely light and warm. Cashmere material used in Divian Dream mattresses and toppers comes exclusively from hand combed undercoat of Cashmere and Tibetan goats and ranks among the best in the world.

WOOL

Wool fabric and other wool materials are well-known for their thermal insulation properties. What is more, the insulation works both ways. The Touareg and Bedouin tribes used wool clothing to protect themselves from both heat during the day and cold conditions at night. Similarly in our beds we use wool to contribute to maximum thermal comfort. Moreover, wool material is also classified as hypoallergenic material with many positive characteristics for our health. And last but not least, wool is used in textile and furnishing industry for its fire-safety characteristics, where wool significantly out-performs most artificial materials in flame suppression and self-extinguishing abilities.

ORGANIC COTTON

In the bedding industry cotton is still one of the dominant materials thanks to high moisture absorption capabilities. Together with horsehair, cotton contributes to moisture management and together with wool it provides thermal comfort. Cotton production is very delicate and susceptible to parasites. Due to this the growing process involves lots of chemicals leaving traces on the final products. That is the reason Divian Dream Company uses only organic cotton in its products. This cotton is certified to be grown with no synthetic chemicals, fertilizers or pesticides. It is our company's contribution to the quality of your sleep.

DAMASK

Damask is a single-color fabric with fine woven pattern. It got its name from Syrian city of Damascus where it was produced during the Middle Ages. Today's production usually uses cheap version of damask fabric using synthetic fibers, but in Divian Dream products you will find only the finest Belgian damask that is produced exclusively to order for our company from high-quality natural fibre.

WOOD

The foundations should be solid. This is true in housing as well as in beds. Our boxsprings are made of carefully selected high-quality solid wood material that meets strict requirements for durability, contains no chemical bonding agents and is in perfect harmony with all the other natural materials used in our beds.

CAOUTCHOUC

The base for caoutchouc, also known as natural or India rubber, is natural latex that is collected from a tapped Pará rubber tree (Hevea brasiliensis). The most important feature of caoutchouc for which it is chosen to be utilized in production of beds and mattresses is its ability to absorb and adjust to pressure while returning back to the original shape afterwards. In full accordance with our commitment to pursue benefits of natural materials we use only high-quality natural caoutchouc in our beds.

SPRINGS

For several centuries, beds with spring core were considered to be the best choice for comfortable sleep. In order to keep pace with newly introduced materials, the spring systems in modern beds must have been upgraded using new technological processes. In Divian Dream products we use springs from non-conductive materials in variety of firmness, wire thickness and winding design. These are then individually hand-bound into the mattress and boxspring frames in order to create comfort zones supporting Your body while you are sleeping. But maximum comfort is not the only reason why springs are used. They also fulfill another important role for truly healthy sleeping — the bed ventilation. Spring system works as large bellows pumping fresh air into the mattress as we move in our sleep.
